

As a University of Akron faculty or staff member, you are in a unique position. Students may look to you as a role model and as a resource for help with their problems. You play a significant role in